The Super-Six principle, exclusive to Hudson and Essex, is responsible for the largest selling 6-cylinder car in the world, because it gives results in smooth, brilliant action, reliability and economy never attained by any other type. This ESSEX, in all ways, is the finest ever built. Easier riding and driving, more flexible in performance, hand-somer in line and finish, it is also lower in price than ever before. Its success is simply the belief of buyers that it represents the utmost automobile value and satisfaction within hundreds of dollars of the price; and it proceeds entirely from what owners themselves say of ESSEX.

COMMONS DEBATE ON LEAGUE COUNCIL ISSUE.

FOREIGN SECRETARY'S APPEAL

The feature of yesterday's debate in the House of Commons on the question of increasing the number of permanent seats on the Council of the League of Nations, was the appeal by Sir Austen Chamberlain that the British delegates to Geneva should be left free and unfettered to act in the best interests of European peace and goodwill. There was a Government majority of 100 in favour of this, when the question went to a Division.

London, March 4.
There was a crowded house and packed galleries when the House of Commons assembled to-day in anticipation of the keenly-awaited statement on the League Council question. There was a preliminary question, resulting from the suspension of the Labour member, Mr. Neil McLean, who, being dissatisfied with an answer by the Minister for Pensions to his question, persisted in supplementary questions, and disregarded the Speaker's admonitions.

Mr. Joynton Hicks moved the Member's suspension which was carried by 151 votes to 49.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, speaking on Mr. Baldwin's motion for an adjournment to "discuss the League Council issue," emphasised at the outset his consciousness of the delicacy of the occasion. The forthcoming meeting of the League had aroused so much interest and anxiety in Britain and abroad that the Government felt it was right that a statement should be made before their representative went to Geneva. He hoped to give satisfaction to the House without increasing anybody else's difficulties, and he hoped that the House itself would be mindful of the situation and be careful in what it said of the susceptibilities of other powers.

GRAVE ANXIETY.
Sir Austen Chamberlain then proceeded to point out that the meeting at Geneva was two-fold. Firstly, it was the ordinary quarterly meeting of the Council and, secondly, it was an extraordinary session of the Assembly, called in consequence of Germany's application to join the League. He said that he and Viscount Cecil would be the principal delegates for Britain. He said that his affection for the League was evidenced by the fact that he had attended every meeting of the Council since he became Foreign Secretary. It was very close to his heart that during his tenure of the Foreign Office, he should carry the general sentiment of the nation with him and he confessed that it was not without grave anxiety that he had watched the progress of the international controversy which had arisen over this question.

A NEGLECTED VIEWPOINT.
The representatives of the nations who met at Geneva were naturally inspired by the feelings and traditions and interests of their own countries, but if the League was to grow in influence and power, as he was happy to think it had grown more rapidly of late, they must, as M. Briand had said, not merely speak their own language, but the language of Europe, and indeed of the world. He thought this viewpoint had been neglected in much of the controversy carried on in the press of different countries, but he was encouraged to hope for better things from the moderation of the statements made by the representatives of the nations most closely concerned. He instanced in this connection the speeches of Dr. Luther, M. Briand, M. Skrzynski and Dr. Vandervelde, all giving evidence of the same sense of the difficulty and delicacy of the situation, and proof of the same moderation of outlook and the earnest desire to arrive at an agreement acceptable to all.

CAUSE OF BRITISH ANXIETY.
The Government shared the widely-felt regret that those large issues as regards the composition of the Council had arisen on this occasion. We have not raised it and we have not instigated anyone to raise it at this time. He had not said it was the fault of anybody, and he thought it was inevitable. He referred to the frequency with which the question of the composition of the Council had come up before the Assembly, pointing out that the main claims now advanced were not now raised for the first time. It was only natural that those who had cherished their claims which had been put off on account of the momentary inexpediency of the changing composition of the Council, should renew those claims when the question appeared on the agenda owing to the entry of a new nation. If he rightly understood the cause of the anxiety of

THE LEAGUE COUNCIL.

China's Claim to Permanent Seat.

Geneva, March 4.
China has formally applied for a permanent seat on the Council of the League of Nations.

The application is signed by Chao Hsin-chu. It says that the Chinese Government, in formulating the request, takes its stand on the international status quo and the importance of China compared with other Powers. The Chinese Government further considers, in such representation, that China is a Power which occupies the greatest area on the Asiatic Continent, possesses a quarter of the total population of the globe, has unlimited resources, considerable economic powers and has distinguished itself by its ancient civilisation and traditional culture which could only enhance the efficacy of the League.

the British nation, it was not that we opposed a change in the Council or any addition thereto, and not that we desired a priori to reject any particular claim without discussion; but it was due to surprise at the opening of the question now and the fear lest the opening of the question would endanger the results of Locarno. Perhaps it was especially due to a sense that there was something in the air which was not fair play (Some Conservative cheers and Loud Labour cheers) something of which one Power might rightly complain, something which was repugnant to the spirit of the game as we were accustomed to play it in state affairs, as in other activities of life. (Some Conservative cheers).

BRITISH POLICY.
Sir Austen Chamberlain then recalled a recent speech of Dr. Stresemann, in which he mentioned that a portrait of Lord Castlereagh was hung in the Foreign Office room when the Locarno Treaty was signed. Dr. Stresemann rightly inferred that that Lord Castlereagh's position, Napoleon policy still guided the British Government, which was using the League of Nations as an instrument as Lord Castlereagh used the Conference of powers. That policy was to protect the world against an anti-repetition of the evils which it suffered and from the dangers from which it had just escaped.

THE BOYCOTT.

CANTON GUNBOATS UNDER SUSPICION.

OFFICERS HELD.

Judging by reports from Canton, trouble is being experienced with some of the naval boats who are alleged to be working in collusion with smugglers in endeavouring to get goods out of the province in defiance of the boycott organisation.

It is reported that the Political Agent attached to the Navy has charged the Commander of the gunboat Kong Ku with receiving bribes for releasing the passengers and cargo on board the steamer Ng Ta Chow, which was captured as a prize by the Navy, as previously reported. It is said that the Government sent an officer and a detachment of soldiers with a warrant of arrest, and arrested the Commander, who was staying in the Oriental Hotel. A trial by court-martial will follow.

Yet another case of alleged illegal practices by officers of a gunboat is reported. It is stated that the Canton Government, having received information that the gunboat Kum Ma was working in collusion with smugglers in the waters near Tai Chan, by smuggling native produce from the surrounding districts, secretly ordered certain other gunboats to keep a strict watch on the movements of the Kum Ma. On the 27th February, these gunboats sighted the Kum Ma steaming out of Tai Chan Bay, and signalled to her to stop. A party of mariners boarded her and found a large quantity of smuggled goods on board. The Commander was placed under arrest, and the Kum Ma was ordered to proceed to Canton under escort of the other gunboats. On arrival, the Naval Bureau took charge of the commander and ordered the smuggled goods to be landed.

GOVERNMENTAL CHANGES.

A well-informed Chinese gentleman with whom a Telegraph representative chatted this morning, expressed the opinion that the Governmental changes imperative in Canton would have little real effect on the political situation, the probabilities being that it would be for the better.

He stated that there were signs that the boycott horizon was likely to become clearer in the course of the next few days. There was a decided opinion in Canton that the Kwangtung capital was more dependent on Hongkong, than Hongkong on Canton.

Chang Kai-shek's resignation was only an indication that the dissatisfaction existed in military circles.

So far as the Government is concerned it would appear that the moderates have a greater pull at the present time than they have had for some time past.

GOVERNMENT AND CUSTOMS.
Regarding the search for so-called "undesirable goods," the Canton Government has sent the following despatch to the Boycott Committee:

"When all kinds of vessels are coming to a Treaty Port with cargo, the Maritime Customs will bear the responsibility of preventing smuggling, when they are within the harbour limits up to the time when the cargoes are to be examined by the Customs House. At this moment, the pickets should take a strict attitude by keeping watch of cargoes, but it will not be necessary for them to search for the 'undesirable' goods. They can only do so, if they have such a desire, when the cargoes have been examined by the Customs."

TROOP TROUBLE IN CANTON.

REPORTED MUTINY OF SOLDIERS.

INDEPENDENCE MOVE.

Passengers arriving from Canton to-day report that the troops of General Wong Mow-kung, G.O.C. of the Second Division of the First Army Corps, have mutinied and declared their independence.

Only a few days ago it was reported that General Wong had been arrested and placed under detention at Whampoa for alleged incompetency and negligence of duty, although in some quarters it is said that he is one of three suspected of complicity in a movement for the assassination of General Chang Kai-shek.

The troops, which are described as of the "Super-Disciplined" type, numbering several thousand, are stationed at Shek Wai-tong, along the Samshui Railway opposite Shameen, and they are stated to have hoisted their own flags and declared their independence. So far, there is no report of any definite action having been taken by the mutinous troops against other forces.

In connection with these developments, it is stated that there have recently been large contingents of troops sent from Canton to Sheklung for the purpose of preventing the forces of General Hoi Ying-yum, a Divisional Commander of the First Army Corps, from entering Canton with a view to joining hands with General Wong Mow-kung's troops. General Hoi has his headquarters at Swatow, but is said to be now at Waichow, and reports have been current for some time that he intended forming an alliance with General Wong.

TWO BOMBS.

MAN AND WOMEN CHARGED.

Charged with being in possession of two bombs, an unemployed Chinese fitter and two women appeared before Mr. R. E. Lindsell, at the Central Magistracy this morning.

Detective-Inspector Murphy explained that the defendants were together when arrested. One of the bombs was about the size of a motor cycle cylinder. His instructions were to apply for a formal remand.

Questioned by the Magistrate, Inspector Murphy said he had not as yet experimented with the bombs.

The defendants were remanded until March 12th.

FLIGHT ABANDONED.

BRITISH AVIATORS FORCED DOWN.

speech-making gatherings. Representatives have now been sent to Swatow, Kongmoon, Shuhing, Shukwan and other places to extend the movement to those parts. The movement has been in operation in Canton, but it is to be further extended there by the distribution of subscription books to various Government offices. Memorial badges are also to be sold in the bazaars at the First Public Garden and the Hai Tung Monastery of Honan, the roof gardens of the different Companies and the public thoroughfares in order to collect greater sums to help the strikers.

TRIPLE SHOOTING TRAGEDY.

HOW HONGKONG MAN WAS KILLED.

VICTIM OF RAGE.

Further news from Manila with regard to the shooting of Mr. George W. McClintock (formerly of the Pharmacy in Hongkong) at Zamboanga is to the effect that he lost his life in a triple tragedy, two of the slain being innocent bystanders.

It seems that Antonio Maldonado of the firm of Lopez & Maldonado, attempted to collect a debt of four pesos from Donato Abol, Filipino cashier of the American Pharmacy.

A fight resulted, in which Maldonado was hit on the head with a bottle. Raging, he went to his home, procured an automatic revolver and returning to the pharmacy, entered the back door and fired into the heads of the first two he saw, who happened to be Mr. George W. McClintock, proprietor of the pharmacy, and Esteban Raspal, bookkeeper. Maldonado then went to his home and blew out his brains.

Maldonado was a quiet, sober citizen and well thought of, but was a neurotic and it is believed the blow on the head with the bottle affected his brain. He was a son-in-law of Mr. W. L. Lamb, proprietor of the Plaza Theatre.

MOTOR MISHAPS.

FURTHER CASES REPORTED.

A further batch of motor mishaps is reported to-day.

As the sanitary motor van, No. 1626, was standing at Leighton Hill Road, in Morrison Hill Road motor car No. 1912 collided with the van. The car was damaged, but the van received little damage.

As Mr. A. E. Wood, of Taiipo, was driving a car along Taiipo road, a child suddenly ran out and was knocked down by the car, receiving injuries to the right ankle. Mr. Wood took the child back to Taiipo, where treatment was rendered by the Medical Officer.

When a car belonging to Mrs. Birkett, 532 the Peak, was standing stationary outside the Post Office, a sanitary dust cart collided with it and inflicted damage to the extent of $50.

Mr. C. F. Lloyd was driving a car along the Taiipo Road, when the car knocked down a Chinese child, who received injuries to the right side of his head. He was taken to Tai Po, and treated by the Medical Officer.

NOVEL HIDING PLACE.

WOMAN'S DODGE TO EXPORT MONEY.

A new place in which to hide money, when attempting to export it from the Colony, was disclosed at the Central Police Court this morning, before Mr. R. E. Lindsell, when a Chinese woman was charged with attempting to export $150.

On a search being made of her clothes, the sum of $100 in one-dollar notes was found sewn into her clothes, under her arm-pit. The other $50 was found concealed in a similar manner under the other arm-pit.

The defendant said she was returning to the country and did not know the regulations. She hid the money, in order to safeguard herself from the attentions of pick-pockets.

A fine of $25 was imposed.

INDIA AND COTTON INDUSTRY.

ALLEGED UNFAIR JAPANESE COMPETITION.

NO BARGAINING.

Bombay, March 4.

Presiding at the annual meeting of the Millowners' Association, Sir R. A. Wadia, referring to his recent visit to Lancashire, said he went to England simply to state the facts in regard to Japanese competition and to ask Lancashire to make common cause in fighting a common foe. Now that the cotton excise duty had been removed, the Association must consider what further steps could be taken if the present unfair Japanese competition continued. The industry did not require protection as it is generally understood; what was wanted was to be guarded against unfair competition from countries which did not observe the Labour Conventions. Sir R. A. Wadia urged the Government of India to adopt some such measure as the Safeguarding of Industries Act but added that in doing so, he must

NORTHERN WAR.

Feng Yu-shiang Assumes Command.

Peking, March 4.

The rival armies near Tientsin are manoeuvring for position. There has been no fighting during the last few days.

Wu Pei-fu's forces have met with virtually no opposition as far as Paoting-fu, whither Feng Yu-shiang, however, is sending four fresh Divisions.

According to Kuominchun reports, Marshal Feng is shortly to establish his headquarters at Kalgan, thus openly assuming command of the Kuominchun armies in the field.

U. S. SHARE PRICES.

RALLY IN RAILWAY STOCKS.

New York, March 4.

Strong buying support was evidenced at the opening of the Stock market and prices rallied briskly from yesterday's quotation. Initial gains were recorded by Steel Common, General Motors, Hudson Motors and the Erie Railroad at the same time liquidation is proceeding in a few scattered issues.—Reuter's American Service.

A SPECULATIVE MOVEMENT.

New York, March 4.

Commenting on the recent unusual trading in the stock market, Mr. Hoover declared it an intermediate movement of a character which was "usually no index of the condition of the country." The unprecedented sales represented only a speculative movement. He added that all the "criteria" on which real economic stability was based were reported to be favourable.—Reuter's American Service.

FOR WHAMPOA.

STUDENTS ARRESTED AT HANKOW.

WU PEI-FU'S ORDER.

A circular notification sent out under the joint names of General Chang Kai-shek and Mr. Wang Ching-wai states that the Military Academy, having received the order from the Military Council of the Government to alter its name to that of the Central Military and Political College, and having completed its organization, was formally opened on the 1st March.

It will be recalled that a similar order was issued some time ago, and the reason for the delay in putting it into effect was to permit the students to complete the courses which they were undergoing, so that they would be able to enter the new College without interruption and loss of time. In connection with the expansion of the activities of the College, deputies were despatched to all provinces to select candidates to go through the whole course prescribed by the College and to become efficient officers either in the military or the civil service of the Government. Candidates from the adjacent provinces have already arrived and others from distant parts are on the way.

The Canton Government is reported to have received a telegram from Hankow to the effect that the deputy from Honan Province who is in charge of twelve successful candidates from that province has arrived at Hankow en route for Canton. The party is making a short stay in the Japanese Concession of that city, because the deputy had been previously informed that the police, under orders from Wu Pei-fu, were keeping a strict watch for all persons reported to be connected with the Canton Government. It happened that the Hankow police got news of the twelve students for the Military College, and at once rendition of the students was applied for through the Japanese Consul, who refused to hand them over. But on the second application by the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, on the ground that the Military College at Whampoa is a Bolshevik organisation and that the twelve students are really propagandists, the Japanese Consul caused a search to be made of their belongings and found each was in possession of documents and printed forms issued by the College. The Consul then handed over the students to the police. The telegram further requests the Canton Government to give immediate assistance for the release of the deputy and the students.

It is said that it is not likely that Wu Pei-fu will listen to any appeal from the Canton Government, nor is it likely that the Honan Government will be able to do anything to help the students, in view of the recent developments in that province. From one source it is reported that the deputy and the students have been shot, but this report needs confirmation.

THE ALTAI MARU.

HOPES OF REFLOATING.

Efforts to refloat the Altai Maru, which went aground recently, are being continued.

The Asuma Maru, a Japanese salvage vessel, is carrying on the operations, and it is expected that, given favourable weather and tidal conditions, the stranded steamer will be refloated within a week or ten days.

SHANGHAI NIGHT LIFE.

MISFORTUNES OF A YOUNG AMERICAN.

"Red Corbett" Committed For Trial.

In the United States. Commissioner's Court for China, before
Mr. N. E. Lorton, last week, Joseph R. Ledoux, alias "Red Corbett," was bound over in the sum of G. $2, 500 to appear before the United States Court for China upon a charge of robbery with force and violence.

It is improbable that Ledoux
will come up for trial before April next, owing to the fact that the U. S. Court for China will not be in session until that time.

Ledoux was arrested by the United States Marshal, Mr.
Thurston E. Porter, upon the complaint of Carl H. Sharp, a young American and a stranger in Shanghai, who alleged that Ledoux
had figured in an assault upon him at the Dreamland Cafe, Great Western Road, Shanghai, on Thursday morning, when he had been robbed of a diamond tie-pin
valued at G. $45 and traveller's
cheques, the value of which he was unable to estimate, being unaware of the number torn from his chequebook.

Mr. Sharp, being sworn, commenced
to relate the circumstances leading up to and including the assault and the alleged robbery.
First, in answer to the District
Attorney, he stated that he arrived
in Shanghai two or three days back
from Burma, where he had been employed on the oil-fields, making
the journey by the P. and O. s.s.
Khyber. He was on his way home to the United States, travelling
with one H. De Loach, a friend.

First, Went To St. George's.
He first saw the defendant at the St. George's Cafe on the night of February 24, which was his first night in Shanghai. He (witness) was in the lunch-room at the time, having a few drinks and
"a good time," when the defendant
and one or two others came into the room. Shortly afterwards the cafe closed and upon the suggestion of the defendant, all proceeded to the Dreamland Cafe.

"We were dancing there and having a good time," said Mr. Sharp,
"and seeing that my cash was
getting low, I asked if I could cash
some traveller's cheques." "I had G. $350 worth," replied witness, in answer to the District Attorney.
"I asked the defendant if they were good and he said, 'Yes.'"
But later when he went to cash
them he turned them down, saying that they were "no good." The Chinese manager, however, said
that they were good.

"Did you have any trouble?"
asked the prosecuting attorney.

Got Hit On The Mouth.

"Yes, I had trouble," replied
Mr. Sharp. "I was with two stewards, friends off the boat.
They were leaving the cafe and I accompanied them as far as the door. I then went into the lavatory and coming out, a sailor hit me on the mouth. Then I was hit
again and again and finally knocked down. The defendant was there at the time. I saw him with my chequebook. I don't know how he got it. I passed out and coming to, I found another sailor with
a handkerchief to my nose."
"Corbett," said witness, referring to the defendant by the name by which he is best known,
"had my cheque-book open at the $20 cheques. He left me and I went outside with the sailors. I don't know how I got the cheques
back. The diamond which I lost had a flaw in it. It was set in the centre of a horse-shoe. I found

MOROCCAN WAR.

RESUMPTION OF THE CAMPAIGN.

Atrocities Alleged.

Paris, March 4.

A message from Rabat states
that Rifian attacks against Mtians
have broken down. The Daqrols
and our partisans pushed the enemy back to the boundaries
of the Mtiana territory.

The commandant has decided
to maintain and organise the positions occupied beyond the line of trench posts, in order to prevent further Rifian raids.

The losses of our partisans
were slight, and those of the regular troops nil.

The Rifians inflicted atrocities
on the Mtiana tribe, assaulted
their wives and cut up their children.—Havas.

SEIZURE OF MORPHIA.

JAPANESE CAPTAIN FINED.

Captain Hirano, of the Japanese steamer Amazon Maru, was fined $100 and costs in the District Court at Singapore as a result of a quantity of morphia
being discovered on board his vessel some months ago. The mor-
phia was found in two of a number of casks, which were labelled
"Carbolic Acid." The two casks contained over 120 pounds of the drug, which can be safely valued
at over $500 a pound.

The broken pin still in my tie
when I came to. It had a guard on it. I finally paid the bill for everybody and some friends helped me into a back room. This was at about 3 a.m. It was broad daylight when I left the cafe. The sailors had gone then."

The Commissioner found that a
prima facie case had been established on the evidence and bound
over the accused for trial, bail
being allowed in the sum stated
above.

THE WING ON CASE.

FURTHER DEFENCE TO INTIMIDATION.

The hearing of the case in which two men are alleged to have conspired to defraud the Wing On Company of $50,000 was continued
at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

It may be recalled that a sena-
tion was caused during the earlier
stages when another defendant
failed to appear in court and his bail of $20,000 was estreated. A later development was the remark
by prosecuting counsel that some of the witnesses had been threatened with death if they gave evidence.

Yesterday, the whole afternoon
was occupied in the cross examination by Mr. Zeitlyn, defending, of the assistant cashier in the Wing
On Co's banking department.

He was closely examined on the method of dealing with deposit
accounts, and during his cross examination wrote out certain Chinese characters while he was standing and also sitting down.
The purport of this experiment
was not explained at yesterday's hearing.

Change in Procedure.

He also referred to the change
in the procedure of dealing with deposits which came into operation in June 1923. After that, a copy of the signature of the
holder of the deposit or a copy of a chop used was kept on file by the company. This change followed the reorganisation and extension of the department.

At the close of yesterday's sitting, Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton, representing one of the defendants, made an application for a previous witness, the assistant in
a printing shop to be recalled so
that he could further cross
examine him.

Mr. Jenkins, prosecuting said
that the witness had been examined by himself, cross examined by Mr. Hall Brutton and also re-examined and his evidence had been closed. In view of the circumstances of the case he did not wish to bring the witness to
court unless he was directed to do so.

Witness to be Recalled.

It was understood that Mr.
Jenkins referred to the letters
which had been received.

Mr. Hall Brutton said that when the witness referred to was
called, it was a complete surprise,
and he was not in a position to
cross examine him thoroughly.
He had now had an opportunity
of seeing his client, and wished
to ask the witness further questions.

He added that not the name of a single witness had been mentioned.

Mr. Jenkins: "Intentionally."
Mr. Brutton said they should know what the case for the prosecution was. If the defence had an opportunity of getting the men
off in that court it was right they should take it. They had never had a full disclosure in the case,
and that had been his point all
through.

Mr. Lindell said he thought that Mr. Jenkins' objection of possible intimidation could hardly hold ground, and he asked him to have the witness in court for today's hearing.

The case will be resumed this afternoon when Mr. Zeitlyn will continue his cross-examination.

A reliability motor trial from John O'Grada to Monte Carlo,
by the Hon. Victor Bruce, has been completed in less than three days' running.

LEAGUE CRISIS.

"THE TIMES" SPEAKS OUT.

London, March 4.
The Times has broken its silence over the proposed reconstitution of the League Council, in a leader in which it says "no international question in recent years has there been so emphatic and spontaneous a demonstration of British feeling. Foreign observers are altogether wrong in their inclination to discount the significance of this popular interest, and attribute it to obscure machinations or petty political motives."

The paper declares the essence of the matter is solely the demand for fair play and plain dealing at a turning point in European history; and adds that since Germany is entering it is not fair play to make sudden important changes in the League without consulting her, particularly since the changes are interpretable as an effort to create hastily and nervously a counterpoise against Germany. This strikes the ordinary British mind as an attempt to "queer the pitch," and it simply cannot be done.—Reuter.

Viscount Grey's Opinion.

London, March 4.
Viscount Grey has voiced the support of the Government in a weighty letter to the Times, in which he deprecates preliminary national controversies over the matter of such questions as, the wisdom of pressing the Government at present for a declaration, beyond its assertion that the British representatives will go to Geneva free from commitments to any other government that might prevent them advocating there what is the clearly expressed British view.

He is of opinion that the men going to Geneva will only succeed if they "talk European."—Reuter.

PROPERTY SALE.

FAIR BIDDING FOR BONHAM
STRAND LOT.

Chinese Hotel Business Sold.

At the Auctioneering and Brokering salerooms yesterday, property in Bonham Strand East was put up and notwithstanding that there were only a few present, bidding was fairly brisk and a good price realised.

The property consisted of the remaining portion of Marine Lot No. 161, with the buildings thereon known as No. 99 Bonham Strand East, having an area of 678 square feet, at a proportion of the annual Crown Rent for the whole of the Lot No. 161, which is $17.60. It is held for the residue of a term of 981 years from December 1860.

Opening at $20,000, with bids of $1,000 acceptable, there was no pause until $26,000 was reached, at which point the minimum of bids was reduced to $500. At $30,000 Mr. E. H. Ho became the purchaser.

Hotel Business Sold.

At Mr. Rocha's auction rooms, the business of the Fong Loi Sei Koon Hotel, situated at 156 and 157 Des Voeux Road was put up together with stock, fixtures and good will. Opening at $2,000 the price was rapidly doubled, until it was finally knocked down to a small syndicate at $4,500.

Peking, March 4.
Feng Yu-hsiang has ordered Chang Chih-ching to assume command at Pootungfu.

Lu Chung-lin has gone to the front from Tientsin, this morning, announcing his intention to attack Li Ching-lin.—Reuter.

Feng's Appointment.

Shanghai, March 4.
At a Cabinet meeting held on the 3rd inst., it was decided that General Feng Yu-hsiang be ordered to lead an expedition against Wu Pei-fu.

The Peking Government, in a mandate issued on the morning of the 4th, appointed General Feng Yu-hsiang as the Pacification Commissioner of Chihli, Honan and Shensi.

The Kuomintang army claims the recapture of Chengchow.

For fear of being attacked at the rear, General Li Ching-lin has evacuated Machong and retreated to Chinghsien. The Kuomintang troops occupied Machong the same night.

Chang Hok-liang arrived in Chingwangtao on the 2nd, and took command of the first advance against Luanchow from Changli, with Tientsin as his objective. He got into touch with the enemy on the night of the 2nd.

Hon Lin-chun took command of the second route of advance, against Luanchow from Fuming, with Tungchow as the objective.

General Attack.

The 1st Army on the Tientsin-Pukow line launched a general attack on the 4th.

Chang Chih-kong will proceed to Pootung to direct operations when Feng Yu-hsiang comes out from his retirement.

Kan Wen-pang has offered a reward of $50,000 for the capture of Chunglo and $100,000 for the capture of Chengchow.

Street fighting raged for two hours at Chunglo city on the 1st, the Honan forces completely evacuating the city. These forces occupied Chengchow on the 2nd, at noon.

A section of the Honan forces retreated westwards and the others to north of the river.—Wah, Kiu Yat Po.

A SINGAPORE COLLISION.

CAPTAIN'S CERTIFICATE
RESTORED.

Imperial Merchant Service
Guild Representations.

On the 24th October last year a serious collision took place in Singapore harbour between the steamers Conus and Marella, the latter ship being inward bound. As a result of the Marine Court of Inquiry subsequently held at Singapore, the Marella was held alone to blame for the collision and the Master's certificate was suspended for nine months. The certificate of the Captain of the Conus was also suspended for three months as the Court held that he had not rendered assistance to the Marella after the collision in accordance with the provisions of Section 422 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

The Imperial Merchant Service Guild, of which Society the Captain of the Conus is a member, came to the conclusion, on receipt of full reports on the case from their local solicitors and agent, that this decision was harsh and unconscionable having regard to all the circumstances, and strong representations were at once made to the Board of Trade on the matter. The Board have now wired to the Guild informing that body that it has been decided to return the certificate of the Captain of the Conus forthwith. The case is looked upon by masters and officers as one of the greatest importance, and the decision of the Board will undoubtedly be hailed with satisfaction by the whole of the certificated officers of the Merchant Service, more especially in the Far East, where the case has excited great comment ashore and afloat.

THE TARIFF CONFERENCE.

In spite of the fact that Sir Austen Chamberlain told a questioner in the House of Commons on Wednesday that he did not expect an early decision to be arrived at by the Tariff Conference now taking place at Peking, there have been a number of indications to the contrary during the past few days. The main factor in the situation is that the Chinese delegates who have hitherto been unwilling to accept the five per cent. ad valorem increase granted by the Washington treaties, are now displaying a willingness to accept that grant plus a two-and-a-half per cent. surtax on ordinary imports and a five per cent. surtax on certain luxuries. It has already been agreed in principle that China shall have tariff autonomy in 1928 and it is the question of the tariff in the interim which is still awaiting final decision, though the news to hand from Peking during the past few days indicates that a settlement might be come to on the lines named above. Dr. C. T. Wang, who is the chief Chinese delegate, has told newspaper men, in an interview, that the foreign delegates had informally expressed a willingness to grant the increased interim tariffs (which will assure a revenue of $90,000,000 per annum) but that none of them wished to be quoted as having given formal consent until they knew to what use the extra revenue was to be devoted. The Powers are insisting that they shall know the purposes to which the revenues are to be devoted before they formally approve of the advanced rates. China, on the other hand, is urging that the increase should first be approved and that the use of the money is a matter for subsequent decision. Mr. Rodney Gilbert, who writes for the North China Daily News, states that there is a personal motive behind the Chinese delegates' newly-found readiness to accept the Washington increases, and this is a desire to conciliate the Powers and then to negotiate a loan in the immediate future before the present administration collapses and the leading Chinese and delegates are forced to flee.

He goes on to state that the attitude of the foreign delegations have also radically changed in face of the new move and that the removal of Marshal Tuan or the flight of the Chinese delegates would prompt them to postpone the conference until such times as a representative and permanent government is established.

Thus we see that there are two possibilities now opened up; the first being that the interim tariff question will be quickly decided; the other being that the whole matter will be shelved. The issue is entirely dependent, apparently, upon the stability, or promise, of stability, of the Central Government. China has of late been within measurable distance of getting Customs autonomy—she has been granted it in principle and would only have had just over two years to wait while she put internal taxation on a better basis—and it might just be that because of her own chaotic condition she will incur the enforced continuation of what her hot-headed young politicians refer to as one of the "unequal treaties." The military news from the North to-day does not warrant much hope of stability.

Matters Theatrical.

Situate as we are some thousands of miles from the Homeland, the regret is often expressed that we are not nearer the centre of theatrical and musical life. But although we obviously cannot hope to get the very best brought to our doors, the thought does occur to us that we sometimes fail to appreciate the pains the foresight and the expense which are involved in providing distant parts of the Empire with many of the latest London and American successes. That point suggested itself to us yesterday, when we had a visit from our old friend, Mr. "Jimmy" Young, the advanced manager of "The Quaints" Company, which is shortly due here with all the latest plays, including "No, No, Nanette." Everybody in the theatrical world knows Mr. Young, who, as cheery and jovial as ever, seems to defy the inroads of time. For more than a quarter of a century he has been bringing companies to Hongkong, so we, all of us, owe him a debt of gratitude for playing no small part throughout all these years in helping to brighten the monotony of life for us. A tremendous advance has been registered in Mr. Young's time in the type of companies visiting the East, and he assures us that in the near future some of the very first stars in the theatrical world will be paying us a visit. Ventures such as these take a lot of planning, but, that fact notwithstanding, we hear that Hongkong is shortly to come in for a regular procession of theatrical and musical companies. Times are admittedly hard for most of us, but money spent on good entertainment usually repays the spender by inducing a brighter and a happier outlook on life. Anything that will cheer us up is to be welcomed these days, and it must be a source of satisfaction to Mr. Young, and those like him, to feel that they are the standard-bearers of joy and good cheer to those of us whose lot is cast so far distant from the Old Country.

For three nights at the Star Theatre—March 19th, 20th, and 21st—there will be produced "The Sport of Kings" by Ian Hay which is said to be the great facing comedy ever written, and that most popular of all recent musical comedy productions, "No, No, Nanette." Big business throughout India and the Straits Settlements has been recorded by the Company, and judging by the high praise in the press Mr. Salisbury is bringing really first-class entertaining fare. There will be a longer season in Hongkong when the Company returns from the North and Japan. Booking for the first season opens at Moutrie's on Monday.

COSTLY TALK.

WEARY FRENCH DEBATE.

Paris, March 4. M. Briand's hope that the Finance Bill will be passed by both Houses of Parliament before he leaves for Geneva on Saturday is likely to be disappointed unless the Chamber speeds up matters. The debate is at present proceeding at a snail's pace. There are sixty-six articles and the present rate of voting is one every two hours. The Deputies are resisting in moving unessential amendments mostly without chance of adoption. According to the Reporter General, every day's delay costs the State twenty million francs.—Reuter.

KWANTUNG REVENUES.

THE MILITARY CURSE.

Despite the fact that the Canton Government has posted throughout the length and breadth of the province a proclamation that hereafter no-one but the Collector of Revenue duly authorised by the Treasurer has the power to collect revenues for the Government, it is reported from the Ying-Tak district that the Tack-Yan Company, who hold the monopoly for the exports of cattle, pigs and wine, has reported to the Treasury that the Company has been forced to pay over the royalty, to the Commander of the newly-formed regiment belonging to the 2nd Army Corps. It asks that the Treasury take steps to recover the money paid to the Commander. The Treasury has accordingly ordered the Collector of Revenue to report on the case, in order that the Treasury may take the action against the offender.

"TITANIA'S" CANTEN MANAGER.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD.

The Chinese canteen manager of H. M. S. Titania, was charged before Mr. R. E. Lindsell, at the Central Police Court this morning, with attempting to defraud his employers. The full charge was that some time between May and November, 1925, he destroyed certain chits for goods supplied from the canteen to a messmate of the warrant officers, the chits having been received by him on behalf of his employers. There was a second charge of failing to enter the amounts, in accordance with the chits. Mr. M. H. Turner appeared for the defendant, and the case was remanded until March 8th, bail of $2,500 being allowed.

The Very Idea!

Personally we think it most ungalant to ask how Mme. Lenglen, his wife expressed a wish to go up in one of the aeroplanes that were being used at the resort for pleasure trips. On learning that the cost per trip was $5, the Aberdonian was reluctant to make an ascent. However, one windy day when there were few passengers he managed to strike a bargain with a pilot. "I'll take you up," said the pilot, on condition that you do not say a word. You will pay $1 for every word spoken." The newly-weds duly made this ascent. When on earth once more the pilot complimented the Aberdonian. "You didn't say a single word," he said. "Naw, naw," said the Aberdonian, "but when ma' wife fell out a vera nearly did."

More schoolboy "howlers"—George Eliot left a wife and children to mourn his genial. The capital of Russia is St. Petersburg, on the Duma. If the air contains more than 100 per cent. carbolic acid it is injurious to health. The earth is an obsolete speroid. Horse-power is the distance one horse can carry a pound of water in an hour. Jack Pratt was never fat. And his wife was never lean. And so between the both of them They struck the happy mean.

What should be done for a black eye? To relieve the condition, we should first help nature to reduce the swelling by applying to the closed lids every three or four minutes, little squares or circles of clean, white absorbent cotton or linen, four-fold and about as large as a dollar which have laid on a piece of ice until thoroughly cold. The treatment is most effective when kept up more or less continuously for some twelve to twenty-four hours.

An Aberdonian went home mooning to Brighton.

During the course of his stay his wife expressed a wish to go up in one of the aeroplanes that were being used at the resort for pleasure trips. On learning that the cost per trip was $5, the Aberdonian was reluctant to make an ascent. However, one windy day when there were few passengers he managed to strike a bargain with a pilot. "I'll take you up," said the pilot, on condition that you do not say a word. You will pay $1 for every word spoken." The newly-weds duly made this ascent. When on earth once more the pilot complimented the Aberdonian. "You didn't say a single word," he said. "Naw, naw," said the Aberdonian, "but when ma' wife fell out a vera nearly did."

A London women's club in which each member represents a profession, has just eaten its 100th luncheon. The club is called the Soroptimists and is under the presidency of Lady Falmouth. A wide range of occupations is embraced in the club's personnel, which includes tea fasters, dog breeders, dental surgeons, toy makers and other branches. Jills of all trades.

At a football match the home team were getting the worst of the battle. The rival supporters were deep in a heated argument, and angry words flew like sparks from an anvil. "What our team needs," said one home supporter, "is a really good coach." "What your team needs," replied the visitors' supporter, in an acid voice, "is a good strong horse!"

A pessimist is a person who does not expect to leave anything to his heirs except his memoirs of the Hongkong boycott.

Politeness is really the art of concealing from other people what you think of them.

HONGKONG TO SEE NEW PLAY.

Above are two scenes from Ian Hay's play, "The Sport of Kings," which "The Quaints" Company will produce at the opening of their brief season at the Star Theatre on Monday. The author of the play, it is interesting to note, is a brother of Mr. B. D. F. Beith, of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Company.

NEWSPAPER FINED.

S. C. A. PROSECUTION.

Mr. R. E. Lindsell heard a case at the Central Magistracy, in which the proprietors of the Chinese evening paper, the Hong Kong Man Po, were summoned for unlawfully publishing certain matter, other than bona-fide trade advertisements, which had not been passed by the Secretary for Chinese Affairs. Inspector Shuftain appeared for the Secretary for Chinese Affairs. Inspector Shuftain Brutton defended.

The defence was that the article in question had been published in other Chinese newspapers, but apparently no steps had been taken against them.

A fine of $10 was imposed.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A HONGKONG-BORN COMEDIAN.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir,—Just a few lines to let you know where I have been since I was last in Hongkong with the Gilbert and Sullivan Operas from Australia. After a tour of England and India, I returned to Australia in December last and am now back again with J. C. Williamson in Pantomime. I should have visited Hongkong again only the disturbances in China led me to believe that my business would suffer, but I hope to return to my birthplace in the near future with my own show. I saw Roy Smith in England. The news of the burning of the Hongkong Hotel interested me for as you know, I was born in that building.—Yours, etc.,

victor prince.

Melbourne, 28th Jan., 1926.
[Mr. Prince will be remembered as the leading comedian in the Gilbert and Sullivan Company which visited Hongkong some few years back. He was, as he states, born in this Colony and made many friends on his last visit here. To use his own phraseology, he lives to amuse and by amusing he lives. Many residents will be glad to see him here again.]

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAMME.

There is an especially good film being shown at the Queen's Theatre up to and including Saturday. It is a Metro-Goldwyn production, entitled "He Who Gets Shipped." Original in conception, with excellent settings, it is noteworthy for some powerful acting in which Lon Chaney and Norma Shearer are especially good.

Besides the pictures, there is an additional attraction in the Royal Hawaiian troupe, which gives tuneful melodies, both instrumental and vocal, as well as real Hawaiian dances. Amie Maynard also figures in some graceful and well-executed classical dances.

The health return for Wednesday shows one case each of smallpox and typhoid fever. Both were Chinese and the first named was imported.

MASKED BALL.

NOVELTY FOR HONGKONG.

Something novel for Hongkong is promised for the night of March 10th, when a masked ball is to be held at the City Hall. It is being organised by what is described as "a secret committee."

The promoters say that it is to be a real masked ball in which all can participate without fear of recognition if they so desire. Though masking is not compulsory, those who do are not required to unmask except at their own convenience and in their own time. Further particulars will be announced later.

Jack Hobbs's sports outfitting shop in Fleet-street was nearly wrecked one recent evening when an omnibus poked its bonnet into the doorway. The pavement was thronged with people homeward bound after the day's work. The nearest saved themselves by a sudden dash, and those who got in their way were trampled on. The accident was the result of the bus and a taxi, trying to avoid collision. Only by inches did the bus miss Hobbs's shop. The taxi jumped into the side of the bus, and for some time Fleet-street traffic was disorganised. None of the bus passengers was injured.

"I have laid 1,000 bricks in a day with my own hands," declared Viscount Deane, heir of the Earl of Coventry, at a meeting at Upton Snodsbury, Worcestershire, to urge the necessity of new cottages. "In America," he added, "a man is not allowed to draw the pay of a master bricklayer unless he does so much. The whole reason of our housing shortage is the union's restriction on a day's work. If English bricklayers are going to build for big men let them charge what they like; but when they are providing for agricultural labourers let them put their hearts into it. If the Bricklayers' Union will not relax their rule of 350 bricks a day, put yourselves into it," counselled the Viscount. You can build at half the cost."

ODDY'S RESTAURANT.

DISAPPEARING. LONDON
LANDMARK.

The following picturesque
article is from the Philadelphia
Public Ledger:

Oddy's cafe and restaurant in Regent street, just off Piccadilly,
one of those places with an
"atmosphere" created by the personality of the proprietor and
good things to eat and drink, will soon cease to be an entity of the West End, or theatre district of London. The place is probably known to more Americans than
any such establishment in London,
and its passing is not due to waning popularity. A demand of the Crown and the London County Council, which control the land rights along Regent street, forced owners of old buildings to raze
them and erect modern structures.
"Oddy's," dignified with the name
Imperial Restaurant, came within
the path of the demolisher and
although the little Italian owner
has fought the Crown and civic
body on the basis of lease rights,
the place must come down. A new restaurant with shops in front
will spring up in its place, but
it can never be the same old
"Oddy's."

Like most Continental restaurant and hotel proprietors, August Oddenno learned his business
from the ground up. After running away from his Northern Italian home at the age of 13, he did everything restaurants required of an ambitious boy willing
to work long hours at small pay,
just to learn.

He personally served the ex-
Kaiser when the German monarch
was in his prime and any number
of lesser lights among the royalty
of Middle Europe, and in his banquet hall in London always adhered to the Latin convention
that a member of royalty could
only be served by the proprietor
of the place. Thus he remembers that King Edward never left a banquet table without instructing
his equerry to see to it that the
serving staff was well taken care
of financially, and likewise the present Prince of Wales. About some other members of the royal family he is a bit reticent.

After working in London for several years as a waiter in the Cafe Royale, also known to thousands of Americans, "Oddy" saved
enough money to lease a place
next door with a very bad entrance, but with an eye to getting
a lease that would give him an outlet into Regent street. That outlet was a narrow strip of property about twenty-five feet wide and about sixty feet long, and to acquire it he went through the vicissitudes of injunctions taken out against a wall and other like troubles. But he got the narrow strip and the entrance he wanted

after tearing down bricks at night
and defiant waving of arms at irate lawyers who came with "the papers" just too late.

People in London who liked
German food could not be satisfied,
so what is now the brasserie of the Imperial Restaurant became a headquarters for Germans, the main attraction being a complete
German kitchen set up by Oddy
and beer served in the true German fashion. But if an Italian or Frenchman came in he was served
with food prepared in a different
kitchen, manned by Latins.
Under an oak-paneled alcove in the brasserie, German officers and diplomats formerly were accustomed to "Hoell der Kaiser" over
good German beer and German
food.

When the war started this situation was not too pleasant for Mr. Oddenno. But almost like the wave of a hand the German
kitchen disappeared, German waiters were not to be seen, the walls were stripped of German
hunt trophies, the beer served
was the miserable English stuff,
and even the fine old oak panelling
and ceiling decorations were
daubed over with a colouring
rather suggestive of jaundice.
The German kitchen was never
re-established and the German
waiters never came back, but it is still possible to get dishes that appeal to visitors from St. Louis and Milwaukee.

During the war American
soldiers and sailors soon learned
that they could obtain the nearest approach to American beer in London at this place and they
flocked there, while their officers
were decorating the more sedate quarters of the place in the restaurant and grill, which had been slowly acquired and admirably adorned by Oddenno as he succeeded. When most of them
went back home the old clientele
began to settle themselves at the tables which they had held by
some unwritten right.

At one corner table there nightly sat the old actor and the newspaper man who took the first English opera company to South America, were shipwrecked, and helped save every member of the company of 115, but lost the ship
with all the scenery. Then there was another who maintained he was the original Sequa who
"bunked" the American public
with fake medicine and whose

claim to originality could be disputed by fifty or more "originals."
His story of taking the first elephant from San Francisco to Australia and making islanders
en route pay dearly for seeing the beast lost nothing in repeated
recitals. Then the chap who wore a red vest with a log chain hung
on to his watch and who never played poker in his early days in Arizona without a gun in each
boot, and who now controls huge mining properties in the Near East always had an interesting story to tell.

Then the American engineer
who took a contract to build a railroad in South America used to drop in with his story of the contract he had with the natives.
It was to the effect that they should have a double handful of
beans as the ration for each day.
He soon found that the Indians
had selected for a bean dipper the longest handed individual in the
outfit, and he saved a lot of money
by substituting a short person
with little hands.

These types were constantly
mingling with that sort of American or Englishman who cannot be satisfied with civilization as most people enjoy it and who are only happy in the wilds. The men who were trying to get copra out of West Africa and those who fought pestilence in the Cameroons swap-
ped stories with big-game hunters
and adventurers who could not keep away from East Africa.

"I've just been up for a few weeks for a change of climate, but I cannot stand London for long,"
was the conversation often heard.
"I'll see you again in two or three years." And away they went, but when they did come back they sort of naturally drifted back to Oddy's and to that same corner
table. These men who gamble
with life, health and fortune seem thoroughly interested in a penny
game of dominoes with their fellows of similar nature.

It is the atmosphere that has
drawn most of the famous people
of the world to Oddy's at some time and it is the atmosphere that keeps calling them back. When the demolisher finishes his work
it will be gone and the personality
largely responsible for it already has been drawn into a more highly commercialized chain of high-class restaurants, with perfect food and perfect service, but where the Sequa and the lovers of the wilds
will not go.

in selecting themes for panel
pictures in St. Stephen's Hall at us this week that here are the eight great episodes of our history, the painters' names being appended: (1) King Alfred's Fleet defeating the Danes in a storm off Swanage, A.D. 877.—

sent seamen and poets in company
to voyage and explore and colonize; that which sought
friendship and trade among the ferocious peoples of the East and gave them in return the Pax Britannica; and lastly, that which sought Union at home and so at last completed the structure of our Parliament and of our national life.

Finally we gather the work will be co-ordinated and carried out in consultation with Sir David Y.
Cameron, R.A. A short descriptive note will be written by Sir
Henry Newbolt telling the story
of the pictures, and it is hoped that this will be ready for publica-

position. It is sad that Sir Charles Oman, M.P., our leading historian, says that one of the events selected never happened at all, and that several others are very badly chosen.—Exchange.

harmful drugs.

From Jirrah, in the State of

merchant and planter, writes:—
"I have pleasure in informing
you that the Baby's Own Tablets
sent to me some time ago are undoubtedly a good medicine for babies, keeping the bowels regu-

and strong. I write this from my own experience."

Medicines for adults are usual-

THE WORLD OF SPORT

PLAY AND PLAYERS.

ASSOCIATION DECISION RE SPECTATORS.

[BY "WANDERER"]

Unless the South China Athletic Association can offer a guarantee that some measure of control will be exercised over their spectators in future, there will be no further games this season so far as their junior teams are concerned.

This is the effect of a communication to be addressed to the South China Athletic Association by the Hongkong Football Association, as the result of incidents occurring on the South China ground at Happy Valley on Saturday last, when in the course of a match between South China "A" and the Surrey Drums, spectators surged over the pitch and forced a permanent stoppage of the game.

The Association enquired into the circumstances at a meeting held last evening, and in addition to the above decision, Drummer Bowles was suspended for the remainder of the season, and Ip Kau was cautioned.

MR. GRIMSHAW TO BE ENTERTAINED.

Mr. R. Grimshaw, the president of the Shanghai Football Association, one of the men primarily responsible for the wonderful time given our Interport team whilst on their visit to Shanghai, is passing through the Colony on the s.s. Suwa Maru on Friday next, and as a mark of appreciation of his remarkably successful efforts, the local Association are holding a dinner in his honour at the Hongkong Hotel the same evening.

The Interport team and a representative of every club will be the guests of the Hongkong F.A. and others desirous of being present can do so at a nominal charge by getting into communication with Mr. W. E. Hollands.

TO-MORROW'S FOOTBALL.

The schedule for football in the Colony to-morrow is limited to five matches, the Senior Shield game between Kowloon and the Club having fallen through until next week. The Royal Artillery and the Club de Recreo will contest the right of entry into the semi-final at the Sookumpoo ground, and on current form the Surrey who have already qualified, should find the Club de Recreo arrayed against them. The R.A. have proved very inconsistent and are unlikely to hold the speedy Recreo forward line. The Recreo's league tally against the R.A. in two matches was 12-3.

The Club meet the Tamar in a league match and though lacking the services of Jimmy Stewart, who it is generally regretted, is probably out of football for the remainder of the season, are anticipating an addition of two points to their present total. The Tamar surprised somewhat by holding the Surrey to an odd goal victory last week, but the performance I am told exceeded their merits.

Kowloon Reserves entertain the R.A. Reserves and will be all out to beat them. The R.A. unexpectedly removed Kowloon Reserves from the junior shield competition and gave the Surrey Reserves a comparatively easy run through.

Fixtures, grounds and times are appended:

Senior Shield—1st Round.

R.A. v. Club de Recreo—Sookumpoo "A"—4.30.

Senior League.

Club v. Tamar—Club—4.30.

Junior Division "A".

Kowloon Res. v. R.A. Res.—Kowloon—4.30.

Junior Division "B".

Kowloon "B" v. University—Kowloon—3 p.m.

S. China "A" v. St. Jos. Boarders—Sookumpoo "A"—3 p.m.

SPORTING PARS.

Borotra was applauded for hitting a ball out of court when he apparently disagreed with the referee's decision (in the Frenchman's favour) in his match with C. H. Kingsley at Queen's Club recently, but it has for long been a matter for debate as to whether a player should deliberately make a losing stroke under such circumstances.

The Arsenal are reported to be putting out feelers for the services of Mark Hooper, the Dartington forward. The negotiations stage has not been reached, but it may well do so as soon as the Northern team find themselves safe for another turn in the Second Division.

There has been some curiosity as to the absence from the river of last year's Cambridge University stroke, A. G. He is not rowing this year for purely medical reasons, having sustained some injury to his back. W. F. Smith, the old Blue, who had more tubbing instruction recently, is expected to take his place in the Cambridge boat.

It would be interesting to know what the 40 competitors in the London Brewery cross-country championship said when, having finished what they thought to be the course, they discovered they had been following the wrong trail! The race is to be rerun.

Major Scavell Cape, who has sold the Ballymany stud at the Curragh to the Aga Khan, has accepted an invitation to undertake the management of the stud for its new owner. The Aga Khan now has two breeding establishments at the Curragh, the other being at Sheshoon.

L. E. Hobbs, son of the famous cricketer, is shaping well as a footballer. He has been showing good form at centre-forward for Allyn's School and has credited himself with many goals.

The work on the new stand at Lord's is proceeding apace. It will be capable of seating more than 2,600 and the ground will hold over 35,000.

The Army Billiards champion ship, instituted in 1908, is proving a bigger attraction than ever.

In one of the preliminary matches now nearing completion a Gunner beat a Colonel in a game of 250 up by 6 points.

Fancy that happening in the old German army! The semi-finals and final will be played at Thurston's during the week commencing May 10.

In the Surrey Inter-Company Football League yesterday "B" Company beat White Wing by six goals to nil, and "A" Company and "C" Company played a drawn game of two goals all.

HOME FOOTBALL.

London, March 4.
In the third division (South) of the English League, Queen's Park Rangers drew with Southend, two goals all.—Reuter.

LAWN TENNIS.

HONGKONG CLUB TOURNAMENT OPENS.

The Hongkong C. C. annual lawn tennis tournament opened at the beginning of the week, but the first matches to be played on the Club courts were played yesterday. A fair gathering of spectators was evidence of the early interest being taken in this always popular event.

Two matches in the open singles were played. One, between M. W. Lo and A. S. Hett, attracted some attention. Lo won in three straight sets but he was not seen at his best. Hett put up a very good game indeed. In the other open event Ho Ka-lau beat D. S. Green in three straight sets. Details:

Open Singles: Ho Ka-lau beat D. S. Green, 6-0, 6-2, 6-4; M. W. Lo beat A. S. Hett 6-2, 6-2, 6-3. Handicap Singles "A": S. E. Green (-15.3) beat A. Piercy (10), 6-2, 6-3; W. B. Cornaby (scr.) beat H. C. Gould (-2/3), 6-3, 3-6, 6-2.

VOLUNTEER FIREMAN KILLED.

A SHANGHAI BLAZE.

Foreign Families Homeless.

A French Volunteer fireman was killed, three others were injured, the occupants of a terrace of houses were rendered homeless and considerable damage was done to property as the result of a destructive fire which broke out at 115 Route Vallon, Shanghai, early on the morning of February 28th. Shortly after the arrival of Le Torrent, Nos. 111, 113, 117, 119 and 121 in the row also became involved, the top storeys being burned out.

The following were the casualties among the volunteer firemen: Killed.—Fireman Bassall, No. 1 Co. Wounded.—Firemen Atkinson (No. 2 Co.), Bortels (No. 1 Co.), Peniguel (slightly injured).

A fall from the escape was the cause of Fireman Bassall's fatal accident. Fireman Atkinson, on the arrival of the section, on running to his position tripped over a length of hose and as he then thought had dislocated his ankle. The injury afterwards proved to be a break. Fireman Peniguel was only slightly injured. Firemen Bortels, who also was on the ladder, and Atkinson were admitted to the Hospital Ste. Marie.

Several of the inmates of the dwellings were out at the time the alarm was given (1.03 a.m.), while others were asleep. Many of the latter, including Mrs. P. M. Johns and her two children, who reside at No. 121, at the end of the row, had narrow escapes.

BRITAIN'S HANDS NOT TIED.

and, simultaneously, welcome back yesterday's enemy to the concert of nations to work towards reconciliation, friendship and cordiality.

The guiding principle of the British representatives at Geneva must, therefore, be that they would be party to nothing endangering the success of Locarno or rendering it impossible for Germany, at the last moment, to enter the League.

As regards the composition of the Council Sir Austen Chamberlain remarked that there were as many different opinions as there were members of the League, and it was impossible to say how these differing opinions could be reconciled. There would be little chance of agreement, if the only machinery of solution were an exchange of diplomatic Notes. The very object of the creation of the League was to afford an opportunity for personal intercourse with a view to seeking and finding methods of solution which would never emerge from controversial writing.

THE CURSE OF EUROPE.

"There is one solution which Britain will not contenance in any circumstance; it will not be a party to re-creating in the Council, camps of opposing forces which were the curse of Europe before the war." Moreover, any such attempt would be futile, since one vote more or less is useless in a Council where unanimity is necessary on all essential matters.

Sir Austen Chamberlain then dealt with the arguments in favour of the abolition of the need for unanimity, and expressed the opinion that while on most exceptional occasions majority decisions might be desirable, he favoured unanimity to prevent intrigue and to prevent "the Council" being denatured for the purpose of creating a majority to obtain any particular decision.

He doubted whether anyone who had ever represented Britain was prepared to assert that the Council should always retain its original form. Impatience in the Assembly with the settled re-election of some temporary members had been growing and he doubted whether the Assembly would have been content to re-elect them last year if they had not known that the whole subject was shortly to be reviewed. The question was essentially one for common discussion and a solution which was the outcome of the interchange of ideas and the free play of thought. But membership of the Council should be kept within manageable bounds, and it was equally important that the Council should be sufficiently numerous to make it fairly representative of the whole body of States in the League. But an increase in the permanent seats must be scrupulously examined. Britain had not taken up the position that it was impossible to increase the permanent seats except on the entry Germany, the United States or Russia. He recalled that there was a private meeting of the Council four years ago at which Britain supported the claim of Spain, and he saw nothing that had happened since to make the Government change its attitude regarding that claim in principle—Opposition cries of "Oh!"—though the time when that claim should be pressed was a different question with which he was not dealing now.

LABOUR INTERJECTION.

Sir Austen Chamberlain then dwelt on the merits of increasing the non-permanent seats, and proceeded to refer to the jealousy with which permanent additions ought to be made. But he reiterated that they were not prepared to say a priori that no such claim could be admitted in any circumstances whatsoever.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald intervened and asked if Sir Austen Chamberlain meant that no such claim could be admitted in March? Sir Austen replied "No," adding that Government would have preferred that these further questions should not be raised at present but, if a way to peace were found by common agreement for any particular admission they certainly would not oppose or reject that admission on the ground that they would have preferred to discuss the question in September.—(Labour cries of "Oh.")

He mentioned that the German Ambassador had to-day communicated his anxious wish to see him as his Government desired a meeting of the representatives of the Powers—(A Locarno conversation)—before the opening of the Council. He (Sir Austen) had gladly concurred and said he had reminded the Ambassador that a fortnight ago he (Sir Austen) had communicated to the German Government the earnest hope that they would meet at Geneva before the decisions were taken.

Mr. Lloyd George interposed with the question whether that meant that Britain would oppose the addition of any member in the event of absence of agreement among all the parties of which Germany was one.

Sir Austen Chamberlain replied that he was not prepared to go beyond the statement he had made—(Ministerial cheers and ironical "Ohs").—After full consideration by the Government the essential principle for Britain was that the fruits of Locarno should be reached and nothing be done to prevent Germany from entering the League.

Sir Austen said that if he had pleaded to his countrymen to allow their representative some latitude in the discussions it was because he wanted to stretch out the hand to others and see them stretch their hands to him, and not have his hands tied, so that his most friendly gesture was futile. He cited the speech by Dr. Vandervelde that the Belgian delegates would be unfettered, and said that Dr. Vandervelde had indicated his general attitude.—(Labour cries "Why don't you? He was quite frank.")

Sir Austen concluded by appealing to the House to leave him free to meet his friends and colleagues in the great Council of Nations, and to seek a solution not by renewing or prolonging difficulties, not by recreating and increasing suspicion, but by making the meeting another step in the progress of reconciliation and appeasement.—(Ministerial cheers.)

LABOUR'S REPLY.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald said he was frankly dissatisfied with the statement, which lacked realistic detail. He was not dissatisfied at the spontaneous rising up of certain countries in claiming permanent seats, but because those countries had been encouraged daily to go on. He declared that the Government had allowed Poland to pursue enquiries and approach Government after Government, while Britain stood by, apparently without opinions. "We are told that on account of the delicate and difficult situation which has arisen by those claims being carried to a point which involves the honour of the nations making them, that it is inexpedient and wrong for the House to tie Sir Austen Chamberlain's hands. That was a situation which the House had a perfect right to reject.—(Labour cheers.)

This was no question of party feeling, and he never knew of an issue or situation on which the nation was so united. "We can run this doctrine of the free hand a bit too far." He went on to ask what was the degree of Sir Austen Chamberlain's freedom. Was he free in relation to any pledge or promise he had given regarding what he was going to do at Geneva? Was he pledged to Spain, to Poland and to Brazil? He was unable to imagine a more inopportune moment even to talk about further admissions, nor a more unfortunate diplomatic method when admitting a new State than to give opportunity for mischievous Continental newspapers to say that this was a make-weight or counter-balancing force. Nothing was more calculated to encourage suspicion than the Council was directed against Locarno. He argued it would be an injustice to the other nations themselves to admit them at present. For example, it would be unfair to recognise the Spanish claim if recognition was part of a bargain causing Spain to enter under a cloud of suspicion. He demanded that Britain at Geneva should deal with one question alone, namely, the admission of Germany.

"POISON IN LOVING CUP."

Mr. Lloyd George confessed a feeling of disappointment and uneasiness that Sir Austen Chamberlain had absolutely refused to give one definite answer that mattered. France was pledged to vote for Poland's admission, and Japan had said she would accompany the majority. Mr. Lloyd George summed up the British attitude as being "If France and other nations agree and can bully Germany into surrendering, I will acquiesce."

It was poison in a loving cup—the poison of suspicion. Proceeding, Mr. Lloyd George demanded Sir Austen Chamberlain at least to give his own personal opinion. He appealed to the Government to give effect to British opinion which intended to give a fair deal to Germany and pursue its traditional policy of fair play in Europe.

PREMIER'S CONVICTION.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin, replying to the debate, recognised the existence of solid British public opinion and he wished it had been possible to insist on Germany's admission alone in March, but that was beyond our power. He deprecated the agitation which had sprung up because it was contrary to the Locarno spirit and was beginning to create two camps, one on the side of France and the other on the side of Germany. He said that apart from the pledge given to Spain, which was not accompanied by conditions regarding time or occasion, Britain had not given pledges or obligations to any country. He declared that the Government was sending Sir Austen Chamberlain and Viscount Cecil who deserved the confidence of the country. The Government was convinced that when they returned, suspicious and critical members would be the first to acknowledge that they held high the honour of their country and built another stone in the temple of peace of Europe.

THE DIVISION FIGURES.

At the conclusion of the debate, the Opposition challenged a division on the motion for adjournment, which was defeated by 224 votes to 124. This was tantamount to a pro-Government majority of 100.—Reuter.

WHAT BELGIUM THINKS.

In the Chamber, during a debate on the foreign Budget, in response to a request that he should make a definite statement regarding Geneva, M. Vandervelde opined that two nations ought to be represented on the Council, namely, Belgium, who was already there, and Poland, who was not yet represented. He added—"It would be shocking if Belgium left the Council while Germany entered it, and if we are unable to defend our interests while our neighbours in the east could do so."—Reuter.

SHIP'S APPRENTICE DECORATED.

On February 4, John Edward Snaith, an apprentice, of Lee, S.E., was presented with the Board of Trade's silver medal for life-saving at sea at an investiture at Buckingham Palace. A ship was sunk in a typhoon in Hongkong Harbour in August, 1923, and Snaith, who was serving on the British steamer Egremont Castle, was one of a volunteer party who launched a boat in terrific seas, and succeeded in saving a Chinese sailor. The rescuers found it impossible to return to their own ship, and had to drift until they got alongside the steamer Bowes Castle, and were picked up.

HUGO STINNES' FLEET.

SALE PRICE FIXED AT 27 MILLION MARKS.

Berlin, 29th January.—Negotiations for the sale of the entire Hugo Stinnes fleet to the Deutsche Australische Shipping Company and Kosmos Company have resulted in a provisional agreement. Stinnes' fleet consists of 25 modern freight and passenger overseas steamers, a total tonnage of 140,355, while two motor-ships of 10,800 tonnage are now being reconstructed. The Deutsche Australische and Kosmos Companies have a capital of 18 and 12 million marks respectively. It is stated that the transaction will necessitate an increase of the capital of both companies.

A sum of 21,000,000 marks has been agreed as the price for the purchase of Stinnes' fleet of which 6,000,000 marks are payable in cash and mortgages to the value of 1,000,000 marks held by Dutch capitalists will be taken over by the new owners, the Deutsch-Australische Shipping Company and Kosmos Company.

The vessels will continue to sail with Stinnes' flag. The liquidation of Stinnes' property is progressing. The sale of Koholyt Company to a British concern and the present fleet transaction will now enable Stinnes' family to continue their Muelheim coal business without outward assistance.

SCHNEIDER CUP.

BRITISH BUILDER'S LIGHTNING DECISION.

There was a dramatic surprise recently in connection with the international Schneider Cup, the most coveted of all air trophies.

Britain intimated recently to America that the date, October 24, which the latter—as holders of the cup—had fixed for this year's contest, would not give us time to get ready a representative team, and we asked that the contest might be postponed to early next year.

An official reply came through saying that the United States could not agree to any such postponement. It was broadcast that evening that Britain would not be able to send a team this year.

[As America has won the Cup twice already, and as neither France nor Italy are expected to take part this year, this meant that all the Americans would have to do would be to fly a machine over the course in October and, claim the trophy as their property.]

One of those who, in his home at Cowes, Isle of Wight, listened to this broadcast message, was Mr. S. Saunders, head of the firm of Messrs. S. E. Saunders, Ltd., builders of big British flying-boats. He came to a characteristically rapid decision.

He rang up the Royal Aero Club in London, and within 12 minutes he told the officials of the club that he intended, on his own accord, to organise and send out a team of British air challengers to the United States, in order that an eleventh-hour effort might be made to win the cup.

"I hope," he explained later, "to get ready a team of as many as three high-speed racing craft. My design department has for some time, been working quietly upon these specialised machines. Complete designs exist already, and construction is to begin at the utmost speed."
